FERTILITY
LAW

World leaders in fertility law for over 30 years

Klein Fertility Law has been representing clients in assisted reproduction law matters since 1987. During that time, our firm has witnessed the rapid advancement of medical technology and the steady acknowledgement of the need for this legal service by courts and legislatures throughout the United States. Now a nationwide law firm, every year, Klein Fertility Law represents over a thousand intended parents, surrogates, as well as recipients and donors of eggs, sperm, and embryos. We are uniquely positioned to handle any third party assisted reproduction matter throughout the U.S. and we are proud to assist with the creation of loving, happy families. We assist clients from all over the world, regardless of background, relationship status, sexuality, or citizenship. From our infancy in 1987 to today, we have matured into an experienced industry leader in fertility law, and we are here to help you grow your family.

OUR ATTORNEYS

BRIAN S. KLEIN Esq.

KFL Owner / Attorney

Brian is the owner and managing attorney of Klein Fertility Law, having joined the firm in 2011. Brian has advised thousands of hopeful parents-to-be in all facets of fertility law, including egg donation, sperm donation, embryo donation, and surrogacy. Brian also leads the firm's team for international relations, often speaking at international surrogacy seminars, advising on current issues, and providing guidance to other practitioners. He is a member of the legal committee in the Society for Ethics in Egg Donation and Surrogacy (SEEDS).

CASEY O'CONNELL Esq.

Attorney

Casey has been practicing law in California since 2012 and joined Klein Fertility Law in 2019. He focuses his practice on all aspects of fertility law, primarily assisting with the establishment of parental rights for the firm's intended parent clients, domestic and international legal considerations, as well as estate planning, including the preparation of trusts, wills, and powers of attorney for the firm's clients. An advocate for reproductive rights and access to assisted reproduction, Casey advises all of the firm's clients, domestic and international.

ALEX MONK Esq.

Attorney

Licensed in Texas, Colorado, New York, and Michigan, Alex brings a national scope to the firm along with years of experience in legal, legislative, and community-based fertility advocacy. Early in his career, Alex represented clients in juvenile civil rights litigation and later narrowed his focus to fertility and assisted reproduction advocacy. Alex was recognized as Colorado's Juvenile Law Rising Star by the Office of the Child's Representative. Alex joined the firm in 2023 and supports clients in all aspects of assisted reproduction.

STEVEN KLEIN

Attorney (Retired)

A trailblazer in fertility law, Steven Klein, our firm's founder, participated in his first surrogacy agreement as counsel for an intended parent in 1987. In 2023, after over three decades of dedicated service to clients and helping to set the standard of practice for attorneys in this area of law, Steven retired and passed the professional torch to his son, Brian Klein.
